Political Law Junior Associate RSCDC7410

Description

A leading Washington, DC-based legal practice is seeking two junior associates (Class of 2025–2023) to join its Political Law Compliance and Investigations group. This is an exceptional opportunity to work within a highly respected, nonpartisan political law practice advising clients on complex compliance, investigative, and regulatory matters. If you think you'd be a good fit, please send your resume to jobplacements@reliablestaffing.com

The group focuses on providing sophisticated legal counsel in political law compliance and investigations. The practice is strictly nonpartisan and does not represent political candidates or political parties. Associates will support high-level matters involving regulatory compliance, investigations, and advisory work for a diverse client base.

This role is best suited for candidates with prior law firm experience and a strong interest in political law and regulatory frameworks.
